NEW QUESTION: 1

Which of the following metrics is MOST useful to an IS auditor when evaluating whether IT investments are meeting business objectives?

- A. Budgeted spend versus actual spend
- B. Actual return on investment (ROI) versus industry average ROI.
- C. Actual versus projected customer satisfaction
- D. Realized return on investment (ROI) versus projected ROI

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 2

Refer to the exhibit.

In an effort to troubleshoot a caller ID delivery problem, a customer emailed you the voice port configuration on a Cisco IOS router. Which type of voice port is it?

- A. FXS
- B. FXO
- C. E&M
- D. BRI
- E. DID

Answer: B

Explanation:

- Configuring FXS and FXO Voice Ports to Support Caller ID To configure caller-ID on FXS and FXO voice ports, use the following commands beginning in global configuration mode:

Command	Purpose	Step
Router(config)# caller-id enable	Enables caller ID. This command applies to FXS voice ports that send caller-ID information and to FXO ports that receive it. By default caller ID is disabled.	1

Note

If the station-id or a caller-id alerting command is configured on the voice port, these automatically enable caller ID, and the caller-id enable command is not necessary.

Command	Purpose	Step
Router(config-voiceport)# station-id name name	Configures the station name on FXS voice ports connected to user telephone sets. This sets the caller-ID information for on-net calls originated by the FXS port. You can also configure the station name on an FXO port of a router for which incoming Caller ID from the PSTN subscriber line is expected. In this case, if no caller-ID information is included on the incoming PSTN call, the call recipient receives the information configured on the FXO port instead. If the PSTN subscriber line does provide caller-ID information, this information is used and the configured station name is ignored. The name argument is a character string of 1 to 15 characters identifying the station. Note This command applies only to caller-ID calls, not Automatic Number Identification (ANI) calls. ANI supplies calling number identification only.	2

Command	Purpose	Step
Router(config-voiceport)# station-id number number	Configure the station number on FXS voice ports connected to user telephone sets. This sets the caller-ID information for on-net calls originated by the FXS port. You can also configure the station number on an FXO port of a router for which incoming caller ID from the PSTN subscriber line is expected. In this case, if no caller-ID information is included on the incoming PSTN call, the call recipient receives the information configured on the FXO port instead. If the PSTN subscriber line does provide caller-ID information, this information is used and the configured station name is ignored. If the caller-ID station number is not provided by either the incoming PSTN caller ID or by the station number configuration, the calling number included with the on-net routed call is determined by Cisco IOS software by using a reverse dial-peer search. In this case, the number is obtained by searching for a POTS dial-peer that refers to the voice-port and the destination-pattern number from that dial-peer is used. Number is a string of 1 to 15 characters identifying the station telephone or extension number.	3

NEW QUESTION: 3

Time series analysis is a regression model in which the independent variable is time. In time series analysis, the value of the next time period is frequently dependent on the value of the time period before that. Hence, the error terms are usually correlated or dependent on the prior period; i.e., they are characterized by autocorrelation (serial correlation).

- A. Time series analysis is a regression model in which the independent variable is time.
- B. In time series analysis, the value of the next time period is frequently dependent on the value of the time period before that.
- C. Hence, the error terms are usually correlated or dependent on the prior period; i.e., they are characterized by autocorrelation (serial correlation).
- D. Time series analysis is a regression model in which the independent variable is time.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 4

Which of the following statements are true with regard to savepoints in transactions?

- A. If you rollback to a previous savepoint, you still can replay the statements after this savepoint.
- B. You can rollback to any previous savepoint.
- C. Within a transaction, you can define multiple savepoints
- D. If you rollback to a previous savepoint, all statements after this savepoint are rolled back and cannot be reissued.
- E. All savepoints must have unique identifiers
- F. You can rollback to only the latest savepoint.

Answer: B,C,D,E

Explanation:

29.4.3. The InnoDB Transaction Model

If you want to roll back only part of a transaction, you can set a savepoint by using the

SAVEPOINT statement:

```
SAVEPOINT savepoint_name;

Multiple savepoints can be set within a transaction.

The SAVEPOINT statement sets a named transaction savepoint with a name of identifier. If the current transaction has a savepoint with the same name, the old savepoint is deleted and anew one is set. The ROLLBACK TO SAVEPOINT statement rolls back a transaction to the named savepoint without terminating the transaction. Modifications that the current transaction made to rows after the savepoint was set are undone in the rollback, but InnoDB does not release the row locks that were stored in memory after the savepoint.
